In so far as the Print Media is concerned, the Government does not interfere in matters relating to the Press. The Press Council of India (PCI) is a statutory authority established for preserving the freedom of the Press and for maintaining and improving the standards of newspapers and news agencies in India. PCI has set the Norms for Journalistic Conduct according to which newspapers/ journalists shall not publish anything which is obscene, vulgar or offensive to public good taste.

The Government has enacted the Indecent Representation of Women (Prohibition) Act, 1986 to prohibit indecent representation of women through advertisements or in publications, writings, paintings, figures or in any other manner. In addition, legal provisions exist in various statutes to deal with indecent publications.

(d) The Government vide its Notification issued on 20.10.1999 prohibited the operation of cable television networks which were carrying the programme containing the foreign satellite channel "TB-6" throughout the country.
